➤ Slow Food: Spring Foodie Festivals in Le Marche, Italy

(Eating Your Way Through Le Marche, Italy - Part 2)

In conjunction with our series "Eating Your Way Through Le Marche" here are a few fabulous Slow Food foodie events, not to be missed in Le Marche this April & May 2010:

Slow Food is also the moving spirit behind Distinti Salumi, the National Festival of Italian Charcuterie on 30 April, 1 & 2 May in the norther Le Marche village of Cagli. The courtyards of the town's historic palazzi are filled with meat & you can taste some of Italy's finest salumeria. Distinti Salumi website

You are sure to see us there - we haven't missed one since moving to the area:

Then a bit farther south in the small medieval town of Gualdo in Macerata is the setting for Formaggio d'Autore on 29 & 30 May, an annual festival dedicated to cheese organized by Italy's Slow Food movement. Tasting workshops, stands and a host of other events will present some of Italy's finest cheeses alongside some of the best from abroad. Formaggio d'Autore website

Other foody events include a 9-day Fritto Misto festival at Ascoli Piceno from 24 April to 2 May when you can try a range of deep-fried wickedness from Italy and abroad. Fritto Misto website.

In Cantiano (PU) there is La Piazza del Gusto, dedicated to local bread on 8 & 9 May, the Sagra del vino Lacrima celebrating the delicious red wine at Morro d'Alba (AN) on 30 April, 1 & 2 May, and the Sagra del carciofo centred around the local artichokes at Montelupone (MC) on 8 & 9 May.
